WHEELER TAKES ISSUE WITH ROOSEVELT TALK

defense speech commanded general interest, other developments concerning defense bid for attention.

Col. John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, responding to Mr. Roosevelt's appeal for more planes quickly, promised steady production increases. "The aircraft industry," he said, "thoroughly understands the grave responsibilities its faces."

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced that the administration's "lease-lend" war supply plan, if approved by Congress, would be extended to China and Greece, as soon as pressing British needs were met. China, it was said, would receive such surplus material as could be spared, in the meanwhile.

Mr. Roosevelt held a lengthy conference with Arthur B. Purvis, British purchasing agent, and Morgenthau. Purvis said they had a "general talk on supply matters and the situation in London generally." Fresh British requests had been presented.

Senator Wheeler, one of the most energetic congressional critics of the Roosevelt foreign policy, devoted the entire day to preparing the lengthy reply to the president's speech which he delivered last night.

At the outset he dismissed as "fantastic" any idea of a Nazi invasion of America, and professed no fear "of wild boasts of American conquest by Stalin, Hitler or Mussolini."

When he came to the question of bringing about peace, he said that although "we stand as close to the brink of war as we stood in January of 1917—people still oppose a European peace."

"The president in his speech last night ridiculed the idea of peace in Europe. x x x

"Regardless of when or who is proclaimed victor in the present war—it cannot last forever. Peace—fleeting though it may be—will eventually come to Europe. At some time in the future representatives of England and Germany will sit around a table—and when they will agree upon peace—and until that day, the world of the United States in the president's view—and every patriotic citizen—should exert his every effort for peace, now. x x x

"I firmly believe the German people want peace just as any other people prefer peace to war—and the offer of a just, reasonable and generous peace will more quickly and effectively humble Hitlerism and break the morale of the German people than all the bombers that could be dispatched over Berlin. x x x

"A working basis for a just peace might involve among other factors the following:

"1—Restoration of Germany's 1914 boundaries with an autonomous Poland and Czechoslovakia.

"2—Restoration of independent France, Holland, Norway, Belgium and Denmark.

"3—Restoration of Alsace-Lorraine to France.

"4—Restoration of German colonies.

"5—Protection of all racial and religious minorities in all countries.

"6—Internationalization of the Suez Canal.

"7—No indemnities or reparations.

"8—Arms limitation throughout the world.

PRECAUTION ON LENDING POWERS BANKS FORESEEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—An imminent "monetary and banking" step forecast by federal reserve officials today foresees by authorities aspires today to prevent overlightening of the lending powers of banks to check any inflationary tendency which might arise from defense spending.

Confirmation of an impending move involving banking came yesterday from Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and from Treasury Secretary Morgenthau.

Officials refused to say exactly what would be done, but they did not dispute suggestions that the Reserve requirements of banks might be raised in a move which would reduce the amount of idle bank cash by nearly $1,000,000,000.

Eccles advocated such a plan in a recent speech before the Illinois Bankers Conference Board at New York.

He said then that some $7,000,000,000 in excess reserves now in the nation's banks constituted a potential threat of inflation, since under present rules this idle money could be the base of $60,000,000,000 in loans and investments. He suggested that the uninvested portion of banks cash after certain requirements of deposits have been laid aside as reserve.

THE WAR TODAY

against England, and the country is prepared both defensively and for reprials. Germany hasn't expressed any view publicly, but she, too, is set for action if and when the occasion arises. For that matter, when I was in Berlin at the time of the Munich crisis, a year before war began, civilians were provided with gas masks and were ordered to learn how to use them.

However, while continue to all belligerent countries are supposed to carry gas-masks constantly, and there are gas detectors everywhere in public places, experts have small doubt that there would be great loss of life if gas were employed against big cities. Masks got worn or damaged, and people are careless about using them.

The way things stand at the moment, were gas warfare to break out between Germany and Britain, the likelihood is that the latter would get the worst of the exchange. Britain is tiny, and her big industrial population is concentrated in the central part of the country—a ready target for bombers.

Also, since the Nazis are able to work from airdromes in occupied territory they are but a short flight from their objectives. The British, on the other hand, have a vast area to cover and the flying distance to Germany is great.

Apart from possible attacks on civilian populations to shatter morale, gas could be used effectively against airdromes and munition plants. Should this happen, if no loss of life were caused, there might be a serious hold-up of operations.

One is inclined to believe that gas will be employed only as a last resort. It may be used by a country which is on the verge of defeat and therefore desperate. It may be used by a country which is strong enough to achieve a victory, and wanted to stupefy the enemy so as to permit of delivering the final blow.

Investor's Plight is Not Happy One

Despite great spending for defense and booming business activity, the plight of the investor is far from a happy one, stated in terms of interest he can get for his money.

'BRAIN BANK' TO PRESERVE ALL LEARNING

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31 (AP)—Establishment of a "brain bank" in the United States to preserve the world's learning during the present "dark age" of civilization was urged today by an American scientist.

In an address before the American Association for the Advancement of Science here, Dr. Edwin G. Conklin, of the Pennsylvania Hospital declared that the United States and other countries of the Western Hemisphere are faced with the responsibility of carrying on the work of European and Asiatic scientists during a number of difficult years ahead.

The first job is to preserve the lives of the scientists themselves and the laboratories of the Western Hemisphere have been greatly enriched by the work of many foreign scientists, Dr. Elliott said. The second is to preserve their literature and research material, the third to encourage a continuation of international interchange of brain power in scientific literature exchange.

SLAYER OF GA. OFFICER HELD UNDER GUARD

ATLANTA, Dec. 31 (AP)—Charles Coates, reported 27 pounds beneath his normal weight and facing possible amputation of his frostbitten feet, lay guarded in an Atlanta hospital today, awaiting trial for murdering of a Georgia highway patrolman.

Trial of the 22-year-old man, who stalked officers for five days after Corporal W. F. Black was wounded fatally near here December 20, was set for January 17 before Circuit Judge John C. Mitchell.

Coates was indicted on a murder charge and a grand jury report, in which its county grand jury yesterday and later given a preliminary hearing before Judge Mitchell. State Rep. Will A. McClure of Ringgold and Middo Hale of Dalton were appointed as defense counsel.

Later Coates was taken to Dalton for a later visit with the woman he left behind in a car after the policeman was shot. The two, married several days before the shooting, sat on the floor of a car and talked briefly.

REPORT CHINA PROGRESSING IN CONFLICT

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 31 (AP)—Vice Premier and Finance Minister H. H. Kung told the nation in a new year's message today that China would be nearer victory in the coming months than ever.

Kung declared a financial, economic, military and diplomatic review of 1940 showed the nation definitely had progressed.

Britain's temporary closing of the Burma road to traffic in war supplies to China was the greatest blow of 1940 but, after the reopening, China's international position was better than before, he said.

The latest British and American loans have raised China's foreign exchange reserve fund by 50 per cent, Kung said.

He outlined for 1941 a financial program which included increases in excess war-profit, land enrichment of a new income tax, and enlistment of repayment of interest and capital of loans secured by customs and salt revenue.

YOUTH DROWNS IN FALL FROM OIL BARGE

(Special To The Advertiser)

NEW IBERIA, Dec. 31 (AP) — The body of Carroll Joseph Barrilleaux, 19-year-old youth who fell from an oil barge near Charles Bayou, was recovered today from Avery Island bayou Monday night by Municipalities Officer Ernest C. Wall and Deputies Leroy DeHoune and Gean Portier, of the sheriff's office. They answered a call from relatives, who believed young Barrilleaux had drowned when he fell off an oil barge.

Relatives said the youth had come to board an oil barge, bound for Lake Charles. When the barge docked it was found the Barrilleaux was not aboard, and a search was made of the barge and deck. When notified the parents began a search. An appeal to the sheriff's office brought three officers who dragged the bayou near the turning basin where the body was recovered with grappling hooks.

Funeral services for Barrilleaux will be conducted this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at St. Peter's church in New Iberia.

Surviving, besides his parents, are the following sisters and brothers: Florence, Jackie Charles, Odell, Emily, Elizabeth and Ann.

Pall bearers were Charles Picket, Byrnes Tantoine, Armand Victor, Allen Conrad, James Conrad, Jr., and Edwin Broussard, Jr.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of the Borge-Lourd Funeral Home.

RAYNE MAYOR COMMENTS ON NEWS ARTICLE

(Special To The Advertiser)

RAYNE, Dec. 31- —In a statement to the editor early today, Mayor Joe Chosen, Jr., of Rayne, made an interesting comment with regard to indictment of Rayne in a news story carried in Sunday's issue of the paper, in which it was stated that a contract for a gravel was signed by Mayor of Rayne by the Louisiana Highway Commission in January, 1940.

Mayor Chosen's statement addressed to the Rayne Advertiser, reads as follows:

Reference is made to the article in the Times Picayune of Sunday, December 29, 1940, page 12 of the first edition in which you state a loan of 8 cars of gravel was made to the town of Rayne by the Highway commission in January, 1940, which was not authorized by the town council in which you recommend claim be filed against the town of Rayne for cost of gravel, $922.11, plus interest.

The above statement is not correct. The town of Rayne since 1936 when I was first elected mayor, has never borrowed gravel from the highway commission, or anyone else, as we have, during that time, been in a position to not only pay our bills but take advantage of cash discounts, as can be seen by an inspection of our records, which are complete in every detail.

You also state the loan of the gravel was requested a few days before the first state primary in January, 1940. We would like to know the name of the party who requested this loan or in what manner the request was made to highway commission, as no official of the town of Rayne was ever authorized to make such a request.

The town of Rayne has been operating on a cash basis for a great many years and at no time were we in the position where it was necessary to borrow gravel or any other street material.

The town of Rayne does not feel itself indebted to the highway commission, as we have paid our share of the gasoline tax. Injustice was done by giving this matter the publicity which has been given, so are therefore giving this statement to the press with the hope that some of the undesirable publicity will be overcome.

Yours Very Truly,
JOE CHOSEN, JR.
Mayor.

LARGE DAIRY SHOW EXPECTED MID-WINTER FAIR

This year's dairy show at the Mid-Winter Fair to be held at Lafayette, Feb. 11 and 12, is expected to be the largest, according to Professor C. L. Rougeris, superintendent of the dairy division. The expected increase has been due to the premiums for dairy cattle being doubled and the classification increased.

The premium money of this year's dairy show has been increased from $1,000.00 to $1,400 which has resulted in an increase in first, second and third-place premium money. These respective premiums have been $10.00, $5.00 and $2.50 but this year will be $10.00, $10.00 and $5.00. This additional money will make the showing of animals more attractive for the dairy breed breeders.

The following classes have been added to the dairy show, according to Mr. Rougeris. Get of Sire: To consist of four animals, any age, the get of one sire, not to be owned by the exhibitor. Produce of Dam: To consist of two animals either sex, the produce of one dam, not to be owned by the exhibitor. Yearling Herd: To consist of one bull and two heifers and all over one year, under two, heifers to have been bred by exhibitor. Dairy Herd: To consist of four cows, two year old or over, that have freshened, at least two to be in milk, all to be owned by exhibitor.

A demonstration herd of both Jerseys and Holsteins will be exhibited by the Louisiana State University. This added feature will be of great interest and educational value as it will show how cattle that can be produced and maintained in South Louisiana.

More space has been provided for the dairy show this year and breeders interested in showing need have no question as to adequate space for their cattle.

1941 AIMS ARE MENTIONED AT TRUSTEE MEETING

Mayor J. Maxime Bey, in wishing the city employees and the Lafayette citizens a happy and prosperous New Year at a weekly meeting of the trustees Tuesday morning, named the main objectives of the trustees for the year 1941.

They include the erection of a new disposal plant, construction of an incinerator at the main railroad crossing on Jefferson St., building of an incinerator, erection of a new fire station in a new section and the acquiring of an aerial fire truck.

He stated that the trustees expect to complete these improvements in 1941 and that the improvements will be made as soon as he recommends his hope that insurance rates of the city would be greatly reduced.

Fletcher of Finance P. J. LeBlanc stated at the meeting that the budget for 1941, which covers all types of bigness would be the same as 1940, $600,000.

Mayor Bey announced that the city will receive sealed bids until 11:00 o'clock January 14, 1941 for repairs on roofs of all city power plant buildings, except the building constructed in 1939.

RICE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31 (AP)—Domestic rice markets continued to move upward last week despite a light holiday demand, the agriculture Department reported today.

Southern growers were firm holders of rough rice and competition among mills for the limited offerings and advanced prices to new high levels for the season.

Milled rice markets, with distributors and the consuming trade generally postponing important purchases until after the January inventory period, reflected the firmness of the rough rice prices.

Prices of milled rice, per 100 pounds, in the principal producing areas were quoted as follows:

Blue Rose, extra fancy $3.75 to $3.85, Fancy $3.60 to $3.65; Early Prolific, extra fancy, $3.50 to $3.60, Fancy $3.20 to $3.50; Japan, extra fancy $3.50 to $3.65, Fancy $3.40 to $3.50; Edith, extra fancy, $4.00 to $4.25; Fortuna, extra fancy $4.10 to $4.75; Lady Wright, extra fancy, $3.75 to $4.00; Rexoro, extra fancy, $4.50 to $4.65; 1-2; Nira, extra fancy, $4.50 to $4.67 1-2, and sevenings, $2.75 to $2.90.

STOCKS

BY VICTOR EURANK

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP)—Wall Street's "Happy New Year" gyrations were timed with hope today as the stock market emerged from a gloomy 1940 on a selective rising note.

While many traders elected to cash in on the three-season upswing and trends were moderately irregular from the start, renewed demand was a bolstering factor throughout and a number of issues went into new high ground for the year 12 months to begin.

Transfers were off a bit from the afternoon, but offerings were relatively light. Prices stiffened in the concluding hour although volume failed to pick up appreciably. At the finish minus marks were plentiful but gains of fractions to a point or so were well distributed. There were a few wider advances.

Transfers were around 1,000,000 shares.

BY VICTOR EURANK

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP)—The stock market crumbled today after three successive rallying sessions.

Quiet strength persisted for selected issues but a number of recent climbers took a rest instead of small minus marks. Volume dropped as well from the pace of yesterday and, near the fourth hour, quotations were well mixed.

In view of tomorrow's holiday when financial exchanges will remain closed, traders apparently cashed in on the prospective with the idea of being in a position to ride the tide of the beginning of the new year. Tax selling remained light and new money still was a factor.

Upward inclination was lacking in the bond department and commodities were fairly steady.

Among stocks, Savage Arms jumped to a new 1940 end support. Also strong were American Telephone, Du Pont, General Electric, Johns-Manville, Southern Railway, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft and J. C. Penney.

Motors were irregular included U. S. Chrysler, General Motors, International Harvester, Consolidated Edison, N. Y. Central, American Smelting, Boeing and Texas Corp.

In the curb rumbaper was driven by Todd Shipyards, Bell Aircraft, Cities Service and National Steel Car. Weaker were American Gas, Hazeltine and B. Zinc.

BATS DEVELOP A SYSTEM OF BLIND FLYING

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31 (AP)—A million years ago bats developed a system of blind flying which man is just beginning to imitate.

Robert Galambos and Donald R. Griffin of Harvard University told the American Association for the Advancement of Science today they had found that the ordinary bat shouts out sound waves which are beyond the range of human hearing; measures the echoes of them against its ears and then calculates speed, by and thus sweeps around or away from the obstacle.

The Harvard scientists blindfolded the bats and found their ears are upside before letting them fly toward a wire obstacle. The bats shouted and the obstacle in avoiding it but those with their ears or mouths closed often ran headlong into it.

The sound emitted to measure distance was checked with a highly sensitive airplane sound recorder and it was found that the bats shot out silver screams at the rate of one-fifteen of a second, picked up the sound reflection and guided themselves accordingly.

The sound waves emitted waves sent from slight to the cerebral bottom which are reflected to show the exact depth of the water.

ON THE HOOK

CHICAGO, Dec. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Meyers, 46, spent 10 minutes hanging from a meat hook in her grocery store refrigerator yesterday.

She was placed there by two gunmen who first bound and gagged her and demanded her of $88. A truck driver passing by saw the woman in the store. Mrs. Meyer attracted attention by tapping on the floor, which she was just able to reach with her toes.
